TRAVELING STAR

I love a good project. Although it's still a work in progress, I have come a long way. I bought my 1985 Pilgrim after it washed ashore in Port Arthur, Texas, during Hurricane Ike and have been working on it ever since. We were fiberglass newbies. We actually made a mold of the starboard side and turned it upside down and used it on the port side. I would have loved to name the boat Toot or Scruffy, but my wife wouldn't hear of it.
